  3. - to abstain from religious and colonialist behavior, (not murder, even harm no other people, no suppression, no involuntary indoctrination into a religion, religious practice only to the respective holy book limited and space in question, and no further. );

4. - to abstain from conceit, arrogance and discrimination, because no one is more or less than you;
5. - who are far from greed and selfishness;
6. - which has responsibility for his fellow men; everyone is equal;
7. - which have respect for Nature and Life; Nature is the origin of life;
8. - which is loyal, faithful and steadfast in spirit;
9. - who know no distinction of race, rank, class, ethnicity, sexual orientation, religious (read political) conviction, because everyone is entitled to equal treatment. Everyone has the right of life and self-determination.

This list of the nine (9) properties are the characteristics of righteous Earthlings. And for those who obey, the Vishnuh-Society is their best friend and ally.

We are all earthlings and natural givens also go to everyone, and we need to live by the natural standards, as scriptural in nine provisions set by the Vishnuh-Society.

Vishnuists must live together, building on each other and trust each other. If we do not support and care for each other, we get as far as those who believe in a God who never have to expect help in an emergency. We must help each other, because if we do not help each other, who will help us? God perhaps? No ... therefore we always need to be realistic and not go daydreaming; of Dreams, no one has gotten better. Look around you and judge for yourself, except the rich and those who have invented religion itself..

Thus says the doctrine of Vishnuh:

"We are not herd animals, but we have community spirit."
